LATEST WAR BULLETINS

Smash Japanese Artillery

Washington—Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported today that the heavy guns of American held forts in Manila Bay have smashed Japanese artillery positions to southeast but that Nipponese reinforcements for the Bataan battle have appeared in the Lingayen Gulf.

With Japan's main aerial units occupied in Singapore and the Dutch East Indies, it appeared that the Japs were rushing land reinforcements for the long anticipated drive to crush the Philippine defenders.

Nine Japanese transports at Lingayen were reported debarking troops to "reinforce the already large enemy concentrations in Bataan and other points on the island of Luzon."

The War Department communique said the enemy artillery positions were "presumably designed by the enemy for an attack against Corregidor."

British Successful in Attacks

Cairo—Successful British air attacks on Axis communication lines in the Jebel Akdar sector of the Libyan Desert were announced by the Middle East command today.

The communique said columns of mechanized transport were attacked in this region, inland from the coast, between Barce and Derna, and that a large number of vehicles were destroyed and many casualties inflicted on the enemy.

Red Army Beats Off Opponents

Moscow—Driving steadily ahead over stiffening Nazi resistance, Red armies along the front from Leningrad to Kharkov beat off one German counter attack after another today.

At the point of greatest Soviet penetration, west of Kalinin and the Valdai Hills, numerous fierce Nazi counter thrusts were repulsed and the Russians pushed ever closer to the Lithuanian and Latvian borders.

Reports said the Soviets had advanced 18 miles west of Kalinin in 24 hours of fighting. On this front, northwest of Moscow, the Germans have been shoved back more than 250 miles since November.

MANY ARE INTERESTED

Should Southeastern Pennsylvania communities have to repeat in earnest the test blackout of Tuesday night, while enemy planes empty bomb racks, the people of the State will be ready to take over the task of emergency care of the injured.

Blackwell Newhall, chairman of the Southeastern Pennsylvania Chapter of the American Red Cross, so declared today in revealing the extent of the public's readiness for any emergency, whether from natural causes, industrial accident, sabotage or enemy action.

A. W. Cantwell, Director of First Aid, Water Safety and Accident Prevention in the Red Cross Eastern Area, forwarded to Mr. Newhall a resume of the role Red Cross safety services are playing in civilian defense.

Time-Tables Not To Be Changed For War Time

As the new, one hour faster, time which goes into effect at 2:00 a. m. on Monday, February 9, will be the legal standard time of the nation, no changes will be required or made in any time-tables of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The hands of the station clocks and of all employees' watches will merely be moved ahead one hour and will then show the new standard time. Moreover, as the change will be uniform throughout the nation, it will completely obviate the conflicts and difficulties which have been encountered in the past when daylight saving time was observed by certain communities and sections, and not by others.

Notices reading as follows are being displayed in all passenger stations of the Pennsylvania Railroad:

"Effective 2:00 a. m. February 9, 1942, trains will run on the new Standard Time. Do not add an hour to time-table schedules as it has been customary to do during past daylight saving periods. The new Standard Time becomes the official time of the Nation and Pennsylvania Railroad time-tables, clocks and postings at train gates will conform thereto."

As Canada has decided to go on the new time simultaneously with this country, conflicts in the schedules of international trains have also been obviated.

The public, however, should bear in mind that all overnight trains departing Sunday afternoon and evening, February 8, or Monday morning, February 9, prior to 2:00 a. m., will leave on the present time and consequently will reach their destinations on February 9 one hour late by the new time. A small number of these trains provide some local service to communities through which they pass shortly before reaching their terminals, and in these instances special arrangements may be necessary on the morning of February 9, to take care of the situation. Notice of these arrangements will be given locally.

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kiernan
(I. N. S. Staff Writer)

A man with a bald head and manufactured biceps dropped in to give us a note on a youth movement.

We asked him how old was a youth. He cackled he would ask his father. His father is the head youth of the movement.

He said he saw eye to eye with dimming vision and his favorite Washington personality on youth.

He said "we kids have got to take over and we will just as soon as my gosh—years up."

We asked him if George Washington was a youth. He said he thought he was in his younger days.

We asked him about Methuselah. He said his father handled all side references to Methuselah on alternate Tuesdays and Tuesdays.

He said that the youth movement barred old men unless they could prove that they were as young as they felt.

He said most old youths felt funny—like they were all loose wires and busted phonograph records inside.

Thought for the day: Hello kid!

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT
(Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Politics and Patriotism

Washington, Feb. 5. WHEN politics and patriotism are combined, the result is a very bad mixture indeed. This is why the recent breast-beating pronouncements by Chairman Eddie Flynn of the Democratic National Committee evoked less than no enthusiasm. They seem to have met with almost unanimous disapproval.

BRIEFLY, Mr. Flynn's plan is to link Mr. Roosevelt's scheduled February 22 address to the nation upon the war situation with a series of party dinners at which funds are to be raised to liquidate the committee's $600,000 debt (increasing at the rate of $5,000 a month) and put it in position to "function effectively" in what Mr. Flynn tells us will be the most important Congressional election in our history. This hardly seems to harmonize with the very sound idea long ago promulgated by the President, and echoed by various Administration spokesmen, that politics should be adjourned during the war.

—O—

IT seems a very clear effort to cash in upon a patriotic address for a partisan purpose. Barred, because of the appearance of open partisanship, from holding their usual Jackson Day money-raising banquets, the Democratic politicians are preparing to use Washington's Birthday and the President's talk to the whole nation for the same purpose. According to printed reports, Mr. Flynn, Treasurer Reynolds and other committee officials went to the White House last week and conferred with the President on this business of raising money. Mr. Roosevelt, it was reported, discussed the question in detail with them and made several suggestions. It is not known whether he specifically approved this Flynn plan or not, but it is a bad plan and ought to be

CONTINUE HEARING OF PARENTS OF CHILD SUSPENDED FROM BRISTOL TWP. SCHOOLS FOR FAILURE TO SALUTE AMERICAN FLAG

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Bolden and Directors Agree To Wait So
Sufficient Time Can Be Given Discussion of Matter — Local P. O. S. of A. Files Complaint in Case—Parents and Child State They Are Jehovah Witnesses—Board Transacts Much Business.

A hearing granted to parents of a child suspended from the Bristol Township Public Schools for failure to salute the American flag was continued last night until Monday evening, February 16th. All parties concerned agreed that too much time would be required to complete the case last night.

Stuart and Mary Jane Bolden and their son Richard were present at a meeting in the Maple Shade school building, last evening. Richard's parents had requested a hearing before the board after the boy had been suspended from the Newportville public school, January 5th, for failure to salute the American flag. The school board had previously adopted a resolution authorizing the suspension of a pupil for failure to salute the American flag.

Two members of Washington Camp, No. 789, P. O. S. of A., Joseph Mintzer, president, and Charles Locke, secretary, were in attendance as representatives of that organization, and they stated that Washington Camp had filed the complaint regarding the case with the school board.

President Knight, of the school board, stated that the board wished to hear both sides of the case. He stated that the Bolden lad is by law compelled to attend school, and added that the board members felt he should salute the flag. He informed the parents of the unanimous vote of the directors in regard to such salute on the part of the pupils, suspension being the only alternative. "The child is subject to the rules laid down by the board," continued Mr. Knight. "The board is not interested in any religious sect in regard to saluting the flag. It is merely a matter of respect and honor to the flag and the country for which it stands."

When granted the floor, Mr. Bolden gave his belief in the matter. He told that he and his wife are Jehovah Witnesses, and that the son, Richard, subscribes to the same beliefs. "My boy refused to salute the flag as he felt it would be idolatry, and violation of God's law. He could not conscientiously salute the flag. My wife and I and our boy respect the flag and are anxious and willing to obey the laws of the land. We are consecrated Christians." At this point he read a lengthy petition, a printed form said to be used in many areas where such difficulties have been experienced previously by Jehovah Witnesses.

The printed petition "to reinstate children in the public schools," and addressed to the county superintendent and members of the board of directors, said in part: "Your petitioners, parents and children, are law-abiding citizens of the State. They fully and duly respect the flag of the United States and all the principles for which

ON THE FIRING LINE

Certainly it has not escaped public attention that revelations of incompetency and lethargy in the defense war programs cast no discredit on the men who are on the line—both the production line and the battle line. The weakness is among the politicians, the brass hats of the Army and Navy, and the labor bureau chiefs whose bias and timidity have encouraged strikes in defense industries.

The only possible explanation is that the blight of favoritism, politics and petty jealousy does not extend to the men of fewer years and lesser rank. They are still young enough to be inspired by the American principle that merit will be rewarded. They have not arrived at the point where a reach for higher preferment brings them into contact with the intrigues of bureau politics, Washington official society and trucking to the social workers who play at statecraft. They have not had to run that gamut of compromise with integrity, capacity and initiative that all too frequently unmans the aspirant.

On the firing line Americans are standing and fighting in the best tradition of their forefathers. By land, sea and air they are taking the enemy on at great odds and holding him until more like them can come in to turn the tide for a general offensive campaign. Production operations throughout the land are being speeded beyond estimates. Training and transport are keeping the fast pace set during the First World War. Only the politicians are lagging, but even they are showing signs of taking heart from the vigor, will and resourcefulness of the people.

CANDY IS DANDY, BUT...

It will soon be necessary to reach for something else instead of a sweet. In a few weeks Americans will hark back to World War days by going on a sugar rationing system.

In prospect is an allowance of twelve ounces of sugar per person per week. For purposes of health, that amount is alleged to be sufficient. It is even suggested that the people as a whole may be healthier if sugar consumption declines. Cutting down on candies and other sweets will preserve children's teeth and help plump females live up to their diet regimen.

Ever since rumors of a possible sugar shortage began, housewives have been unable to resist that impulse to hoard. The result is that the supply on the grocer's shelves has been reduced out of all proportion to the actual scarcity, and in some instances it has been difficult to obtain even small amounts of sugar.

How authentic predictions for the future may be there is no way of knowing, but some officials think the sugar crisis is only temporary. It is hoped that in six months a new crop will relieve the shortage sufficiently to allow relaxation of the restrictions.

If the bon bon munchers, the three-to-five-teaspoon-per-coffee-cup addicts and the jam and marmalade super-spreaders can be induced to use a little discretion, the duration of the shortage will be shortened.

The automobile was not banished summarily and without warning, as some persons think. Running boards were taken off several years ago.

If electricity used in the home is rationed, will the title of the song be changed to 'Ohm, Sweet Ohm'?

discouraged. Several thoughts suggest themselves in this connection.

ONE, of course, is that the President of the United States ought not to be dealing with the paltry problem of raising money for a party committee while as leader of the nation he is directing the greatest war in history. Another is that no partisan tinge should be attached to the patriotic address he plans for February 22. Another is that this is a splendid time for professional politicians to keep out of the White House and away from the President. The mere fact that they have access to him at a moment such as this is disturbing. It is hard to imagine anything that could detract more from the Presidential protestations of unconcern about politics.

If the Democratic Committee is in debt, let it stay in debt, or find some way of pulling itself out without enlisting the aid and taking up the time of the President. If, with its present organization, the committee has a monthly deficit of $5,000, let it cut down its organization and reduce its expenses drastically and immediately. From 1921 to 1924, when the Democratic party had no real sources of revenue, the Hon. Cordell Hull, now Secretary of State and then National Chairman, conducted the party affairs from two rooms in an old office building instead of occupying the whole floor of an expensive hotel. His staff consisted of one stenographer and a publicity man who got $25 a week instead of $25,000 a year.

THE fact that in recent years these committees have become swollen all out of proportion both as to size and cost. Now they are both broke, which is not a bad thing at all. No one seriously wants to do away with the Congressional elections next fall. In the first place, it cannot be done; in the second place, it should not be done. However, Mr. Flynn's contention that this will be the most important Congressional election in our history is nonsense. There will be no issue of foreign policy in the campaign. Every serious candidate, Republican as well as Democratic, will be pledged to uphold the hands of the President and support every measure designed to push the war to a successful conclusion. No one who checked short on these things would stand—or should stand—any chance of election. Everybody knows that, and the suggestion that these elections are of paramount importance is absurd. The issues in the districts will be personal and local. Now that the country is actually at war, Mr. Roosevelt is as certain to get support for all war measures from the Republicans as he is from the Democrats. Mr. Flynn accuses the Republican leaders of being partisan, and perhaps they are. But Mr. Flynn is pursuing his own partisan purposes behind an exceedingly transparent screen of patriotism.

IT is not a pretty exhibition. There is no President to choose next fall and not the slightest reason either side should have a large staff, expensive headquarters and big campaign fund. In fact, the country might be a lot better off if both national committees dried up and did not function at all for the next two years. This is no time for the professional politicians to protrude themselves and their unsavory money troubles. That they cannot pay their debts may be tough on the people to whom they owe money, but what has the country to do with that? The really bad feature is that these men could so easily get into the White House with their petty pleas and plans for the party treasury. That is enough to cause real concern.

Three Heirs Are Named By Deceased Bristol Twp. Woman

Heirs to be living in the Union of Socialist and Soviet Republics.

Two decedents, a late Warrington township woman, and a late New Britain township man, remembered churches in their wills probated in the Register of Wills' Office here.

Isaiah G. Ruth, of New Britain township, left the sum of $200 to the trustees of the Lexington Mennonite congregation at Line Lexington with the stipulation that they use it as they see fit.

The trustees of Pleasantville Reformed Church at Eureka were bequeathed the sum of $100 with the stipulation that it be used toward taking care of family plots, by Kate S. Weisel, Warrington township, who left a personal estate of $3800. Mrs. Weisel, who died December 16th, directed that six children, Mabel Kratz, Amanda Kenderline, Laura Clymer, Ada Krout, Grace Swartley, and Samuel W. Weisel, share the residue. Mabel Kratz, Chalfont, and Samuel W. Weisel, Glenside, were named executors.

THE CAPITOL WHIRL

By International News Service

HARRISBURG—Senator Joseph F. Guffey thinks Senator James J. Davis will be the Republican nominee for Governor of Pennsylvania this year and Davis seems to think the Democratic Senator will head his party's ticket. . . . This was revealed in a political interchange recently between the two on the floor of the Senate at Washington, a debate which was finally squelched by majority leader Barkley, who suggested the Governorship fight "ought to be carried on within that great commonwealth, and not in the United States Senate." . . . Barkley added, "None of us here can vote for the office anyway."

During the interchange, Guffey said of Davis: "I do not know why he goes to that trouble of campaigning in Pennsylvania because he has it in the bag anyway. Why he wants it I do not know, and what good it will do him after he gets it I do not know." . . . By "it" Guffey meant the Republican nomination for Governor. . . . Retorted Davis: "When the Senator is leading the Democratic hosts through Pennsylvania, I hope he will raise the question he just brought up" (a reference to Davis' vote against the Lease-Lend Bill). . . . "He and I will then have it out, without taking up the time of the Senate." . . . Guffey recently stated he would not be a gubernatorial candidate unless the party failed to achieve unity. . . . Davis has been conducting a quiet campaign for party support for many weeks.

The meeting in Philadelphia between U. S. Sen. James J. Davis and P. Stephen Stahlnecker, campaign manager for the Republican New Guard, insurgent G. O. P. faction, is another indication that the anti-organization Republican group may support the Senator for Governor. . . . Apparently no decision has been reached yet, but one is expected soon. . . . Members of the executive committee of the Republican State Committee will probably be asked to convene in Harrisburg on the eve of the special session and decide upon an organization slate. . . . Senator Davis is also expected to announce his candidacy soon.

Red Cross Training Many For Emergencies

Under a state wide program worked out by the American Red Cross and the Office of Civilian Defense and designed to blanket Pennsylvania with Red Cross first aid detachments, mobile units and first aid stations, thousands and thousands of Pennsylvania men and women are being trained in the technique of emergency care of the injured. Before the program is completed, the number trained will be well over the half million mark, Mr. Cantwell reported.

The task is one to stagger any organization less completely prepared for the emergency than the American Red Cross. In addition to training volunteer workers for the Office of Civilian Defense, the Red Cross is carrying on without pause its own first aid program in industrial organizations, offices, department stores and community groups.

Since December 7th, Mr. Cantwell informed Mr. Newhall, the demand for first aid training has jumped to such proportions that most local chapters have had to establish a priorities system which provides training for air raid wardens first, with teachers and all others working with children second. Following these, the general order set up makes provisions for auxiliary policemen and firemen, litter bearers, industrial groups and the general public, in that order.

This program of Red Cross first aid training is just one phase of the tremendous expansion the American Red Cross is undertaking in all its branches since the Japanese attack and entry of the United States into the war. A similar expansion is taking place in such services as home nursing, production, motor corps and nurses aides, and all local disaster preparedness committees are being strengthened. It is because of this tremendously increased home defense activity, as well as the huge increase in services to the armed forces, that the Red Cross has appealed to the nation for a $65,000,000 War Fund.

The first move in Pennsylvania's program of civil defense preparedness began months ago when the American Red Cross, soon after the establishment of the Office of Civilian Defense, made a survey of possible demands for first aid training. The survey revealed that many chapters in the state already had available a sufficient number of qualified instructors to meet any accelerated public demand for training.

Into those chapters lacking sufficient instructors, the American Red Cross sent field representatives to launch an instructor training program.

The value of the training program and the first aid work the Red Cross has been carrying on in the state for years was immediately apparent when war came and the Eastern seaboard underwent its first air raid scare. The demand for first aid training skyrocketed overnight. But the Red Cross was ready. Local chapters immediately set up standard and advanced classes, and the number is increasing daily.

But even the pre-war instructor training program did not prove sufficient in other communities where the demand for first aid classes has been greater than anticipated. To meet the demand for instructors, the Red Cross now has under way a supplementary instructor training program throughout the state which will train at least 2,000 additional instructors. Since January 1st, groups of instructors have been trained and certified by the Red Cross in Philadelphia, Newport, Bloomsburg, Waynesboro, York, Lewisburg, and Lancaster. Thirty-one additional courses are already scheduled and others are planned before completion of the instructor training program about April 10th.

The instructors trained in these courses will take over the task of teaching standard and advanced first aid classes now being arranged by local chapters. Included among the points covered by these classes are control of bleeding, care of wounds, bandaging, artificial respiration, treatment of shock, and the proper transportation of the injured. As soon as the necessary personnel has been trained in standard and advanced classes, first aid detachments will be set up in all schools, business offices, department stores, industrial establishments, and every city residential block in the state. In addition, other detachments will be formed in small business houses employing only a few persons, or within groups in smaller communities.

According to the regulations of the American Red Cross, an organized first aid detachment must be made up of at least 15 persons who have completed standard and advanced courses. The detachment is broken down into squads of not less than five, including the leader, for training, for practice, and for actual service as a squad in times of emergency.

In addition, Red Cross authorities plan to organize trucking company employees, highway department workers, and other persons who are on the highways constantly, into mobile first aid units. A mobile unit consists of one first aid car to victims of accident.

An American Flag In Every American Home

AND WE'RE GOING TO HELP YOU GET YOURS

WE'RE glad we're Americans. We know the sun shines brighter on the Stars and Stripes. And we know this is no time to be passive about our love for America and everything for which it stands.

OUR hearts are filled with the joy we take in being American. We're grateful that we live in a democracy. We ought to say so. We ought to fly the banner of our freedom—display the symbol of our pride—BE GLAD WE CAN FLY THE AMERICAN FLAG BECAUSE WE WANT TO, NOT BECAUSE WE HAVE TO.

WE don't need a holiday to fly the Stars and Stripes. We don't have to wrap our flag in lavender. It's precious—but it's sturdy and dependable, too. Strong as America itself.

THAT'S why we say we'd like to see an American Flag in every home in America—in every home in our town, at least. If you have a flag in good condition, use it. Run it up! Hang it out! If you don't have a flag, we'll help you get one.

HERE'S HOW TO GET YOUR FLAG:

FLAG COUPON—No. 8

If you are a subscriber to The Bristol Courier, bring six of these consecutively numbered coupons with $1.45 to the office of The Courier and you will receive a handsome deluxe American flag set, 60 inches by 36 inches.

Or you may have the flag alone in the same size, 60 inches by 36 inches, for six coupons and 85 cents.

If you do not now subscribe to The Bristol Courier you may have either the set or the flag by paying the amount stated above, and subscribing for The Bristol Courier for two months, paying six cents a week for your paper.

YOU MAY HAVE THE FLAG ALONE IF YOU PREFER

The flag will be 60 inches by 36 inches.

Bring the six coupons and 85 cents to The Bristol Courier office.

No flags will be delivered, and none will be charged. None will be reserved. Sold only to Courier subscribers, one to each customer.

This is a special limited offer. It is made possible through a special arrangement with one of the leading flag manufacturers in the country.

We urge you to avoid disappointment by clipping the coupons and getting your flag or flag set NOW.

If you do not now subscribe for The Courier you may obtain either the flag or the flag set by subscribing for two months, and paying either 85c or $1.45 and clipping six consecutively numbered coupons from issues of The Bristol Courier.

Pay weekly for your paper to the collector.

A fine quality, durable, well-made American flag set (the flag itself measures 60 inches by 36 inches), is made with sewn stripes and printed stars in clear, fast colors to make your heart glow with pride.

The set comes completely equipped with a strong, blue-lacquered, six-foot pole, ornamented with a gilt ball top. The halyard is 113 inches long, and there is a convenient silvered metal window bracket to make it easy for you to attach the flag to your porch or window sill.

It's all packed in a heavy cardboard case, reinforced with metal corners to protect Old Glory through the years.

CLIP THE COUPON

If you are a subscriber to The Bristol Courier all you have to do to get this handsome American flag set (60 inches by 36 inches), is to clip six consecutively numbered coupons from issues of The Bristol Courier and bring them with $1.45 to the Courier office.

Continue Hearing of Child's Failure To Salute The Flag

It as a symbol stands, and they willingly pledge themselves to obey all laws of the state or nation consistent therewith. The parents herein named are consecrated Christians, having made a covenant to be obedient to Almighty God and to follow in the footsteps of Jesus Christ. . . . With them the Almighty God is first and His law is supreme and for them to violate their covenant with God and to violate His commandments means their everlasting destruction. Their children are likewise consecrated and in a covenant to do the will of God and to obey their parents as commanded by the Scriptures. . . . They ask that due respect be given to their conscientious belief, and which right is guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States.

"To them the Scriptures teach that the laws and commandments of Almighty God are supreme and for them to yield to a rule of the state contrary to God's law means idolatry, the practice of which by them would lead to their everlasting destruction.

"These children have obeyed all the laws of the school except the one above mentioned, and they have asked to be excused from indulging in the ceremony prescribed because it violates their conscience and causes them to violate God's commandments.

"Since the highest court of the land has shifted the burden of deciding this matter from the courts to the boards of education, we come to you and respectfully ask that you indulge us while we give fully the reason for the position we take. We respectfully ask to be permitted to substitute for the prescribed pledge and ceremony the following, which we can and gladly will subscribe to and publicly declare, to wit:

"I have pledged my unqualified allegiance and devotion to Jehovah, the Almighty God, and to His Kingdom, for which Jesus commands all Christians to pray.

"I respect the flag of the United States and acknowledge it as a symbol of freedom and justice for all.

"I pledge allegiance and obedience to all the laws of the United States that are consistent with God's law, as set forth in the Bible."

At this point Mr. Holden read numerous quotations, until the presiding officer inquired how long it would take for the remainder of the presentation to be made.

The father of the boy told the board that the laws of God are superior to the laws of man. "The life of my child is involved. If my child breaks the laws of God he faces destruction. . . . There is no law in the State requiring a person to salute the flag." He claimed the Bill of Rights gives him and his boy freedom of worship. "And we do not interfere with others' freedom of worship. I feel it is a matter of tolerance," he added.

One board member asked Holden what would happen if he (Holden) were not under the protection of the American flag. He replied that he is under the protection of God. "It is not necessary for your board to frame a law compelling pupils to salute the flag. The State has no such law." He reminded that the Government has made provision for the Society of Friends, who as conscientious objectors are not forced to bear arms. "The Government does not make anyone violate his conscience," he continued.

"Is the board going to stand on constitutional rights, or yield to public opinion?"

At this point Mr. Mintzer, president of the P. O. S. of A., stated that it was the organization he represents which had filed the complaint in the case. Mr. Holden then asked the board if it was "going to listen to subversive organizations such as the one represented here tonight, and not give us our constitutional rights?" Mintzer arose at this point and told Holden to "Be careful what you say."

When the board learned that Holden desired at least 35 minutes more in which to present matters from pamphlets which he carried, the president said the board had about three hours more of business to transact. "You have no business more important than this, for you stand before Almighty God. Remember, my child faces destruction if he doesn't obey God's law."

After duly considering the time element, all parties concerned agreed to wait until February 16th when full time can be granted both sides for discussion.

Sellersville borough's first law in reference to conduct during war received the approval of Borough Council at its meeting Monday evening. An ordinance designated to spare life and property was prepared. This provides for a fine of $100 or less or a jail sentence of 30 days for violators of black-out regulations or other rules governing conduct during air raids. This piece of legislation, having to do only with violations in the borough limits, passed the three readings during the Council session last evening.

Council took this action to provide definite authority for the 50 emergency police who were appointed last month and sworn into office by Burgess Jacob A. Kooker. Speed was also urged by members of Council because of a likelihood of air raid tests without warning.

League Sponsors Red Cross Classes

Mrs. Colville, teacher of the Junior room, stated the sixth grade classes had always raised money to take an educational trip to Philadelphia annually. However, she stated, this class was large and it would be necessary to take two trips. She asked if the League would care to help financially, as they were having a difficult time to raise enough money. It was decided by the League to donate $5.

It was also suggested that children having rubbers or galoshes which they had out-grown bring them to school, and the teachers would see that they were exchanged with others. It was announced that children can buy their defense stamps at the school.

The banner for attendance was again awarded to Miss Ettenger's room. The meeting was then turned over to the program committee.

Miss Betty Overbeck, of the Interstate Dairy Council of Philadelphia, gave an interesting demonstration on a Pick-Up Party. She prepared a very appetizing "Baked Bean Chowder," and

GRAND THEATRE

M-G-M's popular "Thin Man" family, headed by William Powell and Myrna Loy, as Nick and Nora Charles, has an addition in the latest story of the jaunty detective, "Shadow of the Thin Man," opening today on the Grand screen.

He is five-year-old Dickie Hall, who plays Nick, Jr. A veritable child genius if there ever was one, Dickie began to read at the age of one, and now not only studies his lines from the script but reads the daily newspapers.

He began to play the piano when he was two years old and has been giving concerts since he was three. His grandfather brought him to Hollywood for a concert while the search was on for a "Nick, Jr." for "Shadow of the Thin Man," and executives signed him to a contract on first sight.

SHOPPING TIPS FOR BUDGETEERS

ENGLISH FASHION: Well, here is a new fashion! The biggest yet most convenient to carry handbag that ever blessed a woman. We've copied them from our English sisters in the service. It's quite ample enough to carry a nightie and toothbrush in, besides one's daily paraphernalia. Yet the darned, attractive thing is so out that it fits closely and unobtrusively close to the body and under one arm. Hold it or not, as you like, because it is fitted with straps of the material for slinging over the shoulder. It's really wonderful and very low priced at $2.85. Khaki or navy gabardine. Snellenburg's 1st floor Handbag Dept.

NEW BLOUSE SLEEVE: Plenty of new blouses and a smart bevy of the latest skirts can now be viewed in the Skirt and Blouse Dept. on Snellenburg's 2nd floor. One snappy number is quite short sleeved, yet buttons with jewel cuff links. Others have long sleeves. Some with deep V's, some with convertible collars. These I've been describing are in the $2.98 group. Nice rayon crepes in dusty rose, powder blue, white, maize and beige. Sizes 32 to 40. The skirts at the same good price are pleated or flared in solid colors and pastel plaid wool-and-rayon fabrics. Sizes 24 to 30.

DIFFERENT FURNITURE: The Snellenburg Furniture Sale tops all former sales, and this year's display seems doubly interesting. Be very sure to go through Snellenburg's Fifth Floor "Count Ball Shop" of furniture. This fine furniture is sold exclusively at Snellenburgs in Philadelphia. The Count Ball people are noted for employing only master craftsmen and for the durability of their pieces. See especially two solid maple bedroom sets, one strictly modern, the other charmingly traditional. Each contains three pieces, a double or one twin bed (another can be purchased), a bureau and a chest of drawers—for only $99. Splendid!

ROOMS IN MASQUERADE: A good set of slip covers can glorify even the abjectest of furniture. Also, slip covers offer charming protection to new furniture. Snellenburg's Upholstery Dept. (4th floor), specializes in slip covers that satisfy even decorators. Just now they are having a special ensemble price in honor of the February Furniture Sale—sofa, chair and four loose cushion covers for $37.50 complete. Splendid quality cretonne used. It is sun-resistant, washable and pre-shrunk. An extra chair cover, if ordered with the others, can be had for $12.50, including the material. The covers are cut and pin-fitted to your own furniture. Think it over, then act promptly.

WILTONS AT A LOW: What householder doesn't love a Wilton rug? You'll be delighted to hear, I know, of a group of these aristocrats that are actually selling for $49.95 instead of $69.50! How Wiltons wear, and what beautiful, dependable colors they have! At a price such as this the rugs are a definite investment. Yes, they're that excellent, always wanted size, too, 9x12 feet. Oh, I almost forgot—at Snellenburgs, 5th floor.

YOU AND PEARL HARBOR: One grand way to keep alive the spirit of Defense and our obligation to serve the country is to wear one of the new "Remember Pearl Harbor" pins. The Snellenburg Jewelry Counter (1st floor) has a striking group of them. Large suit pins and small button insignias of the same design for men's lapels. The design is beautiful, a half hemisphere of the world and three red, white and blue streamers with the words "Remember Pearl Harbor" upon one of them. A further inducement to purchase these $1 pins for gifts, as well as for oneself, is that 10% of the price automatically goes to the Honolulu Community Chest. Thoughtful? Help along!

SCOOP! This good shop of Snellenburgs has a "scoop"! The new draw-string, triple-purpose glove, no less. Never were so many gloves of one style sold in any single day. Made of the reliable Benberg rayon, the glove can be worn to the elbows, in bracelet length, or as a real shortie. The transformation is brought about by flitting with a cute little draw-string. Cute? You bet it is. Ask for the new Du Barry three-way glove, whether you visit, phone or write. It comes in red, white, navy, unity blue, pink, American saddle and black. Exactly $1. Snellenburgs, 1st floor.

PILLOW BAR: Ever hear of a "Pillow Bar"? Well, to see one is even more interesting. Snellenburg's Fifth Floor Furniture Department has a pillow bar which will keep you goggling, pawing and patting until you find the exact bed pillow you want—for it's there. You may have duck, goose, down, in grey and white, and you may inspect samples of such fillings encased in glass. Reasonable prices. Fun!

BRISTOL AND BENSLEM GIRLS TO BE OPPONENTS TONIGHT IN LEAGUE MATCH AT CORNWELLS

By T. M. Juno

With rivalry steamed up to beyond the boiling point, the Bristol and Bensalem high school girls' basketball teams will oppose each other tonight in a Lower Bucks County League tilt. The game will be played on the floor of the Cornwells Heights institution.

Coach Helen Smith's Owlettes are a slight favorite over the Bristol team. The co-eds from Bensalem have won seven straight games and are undefeated. They have won all of their contests handsily except when they played Bristol earlier in the season.

At that time Bristol was leading with less than a minute to play when Doris Ely scored from side court to give the Smith-coached girls a 30-29 victory. In the waning seconds of that tilt, Bristol had several opportunities for field goals which would have deadlocked the score.

But since that defeat, which was the second in a row for Coach Phyllis Kallenbach's team, Bristol has rebounded. It defeated Pennsylvania School for Deaf, Buckingham, Southampton, and Morrisville Seniors, for four consecutive wins.

Tonight's contest will shatter one of the two winning streaks. A triumph for Bristol will also put the Cardinals and Gray lasses in a deadlock with Bensalem for first place in the Lower Bucks circuit. Since Morrisville dropped out of competition, Bristol and Bensalem are the logical contenders for the crown.

In order to have a chance for victory tonight, Bristol must stop the scoring of Doris Ely. This senior forward of the Owlettes has scored 124 points in the seven games played. Of the six leading shooters of both teams, Ely is tops with 29 points higher than her nearest competitor, Helen VanAken, Bristol. Eleanor Hughes, another Bensalem forward, has a total of 79 points to her credit, while Hazel Larson, who has played in six contests, has a 67 total. Genevieve Kwochka is second on the Bristol total with 61 points, while Gladys Cochran follows with 58.

But scoring is not the only factor in girls' basketball, for in the seven games played, Bensalem's opponents have scored 174 points while in the same number of games against Bristol its opponents have tallied 160 points. The girls of Helen Smith have counted 294 points while Bristol has registered 197. So in comparison, the figures point to a Bensalem victory.

Twice during the season, the Bensalem girls ran their score into the fifty mark and three times they stood in the 40 mark. Never have they dropped below the 30 mark. On the other hand, the most points Bristol has scored in any one game is 33, made against Buckingham.

Bristol has several fine defensive players and one of the outstanding is Mary Bell, husky colored freshman. It was Bell who almost ruined the game for Bensalem against Bristol in their last meeting, for within the last minute she intercepted three passes to give Bristol possession of the ball. Outstanding on Bensalem's defense are Dolores Gonzalez and Edna Meisinger.

So, although the boys usually play the windup game of the night, most of the interest will be on the girls who start their tilt at seven-thirty o'clock sharp.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM TO FACE OWLS IN THEIR OWN NEST

Locals Have Three Boys Who Can Hit The Basket

BRISTOL HAS FOUR WINS

Bartholomew and Bartholomew Are Coaching the Bunnies

By Jack Gili

Bristol High School rides down the Pike tonight to face the Bensalem Owls in their own nest. The last time these two fives met the result was a "rootin'-tootin'" 62 to 8 victory for Bristol that left the Owls hooting.

At the start of this season, Bristol found itself in a rather perplexing situation. Clarence Bartholomew, head coach who came here during the fall scuffle from Merchantville, specifically stated that he didn't want to teach basketball. The University of Pennsylvania graduate, who has charge of Bristol's athletic program, is chiefly a football and track director.

Luckily for the Cards, another Bartholomew was teaching in the grades. Bill Bartholomew, who coached basketball in the junior high school system at Norristown, stepped in and took care of the situation. So far he has led Bristol to 4 wins and 5 defeats. In addition to working with the varsity squad, Bartholomew and Bartholomew incorporated are trying to inaugurate a better "feed line" for the future by developing the junior varsity and freshmen.

Such veterans as Chick Di Angelo, Ken Herrmann, Joe Accardi and Paul Ruby are pulling Bristol through to a commendable showing. Mainly instrumental for their being perched atop the heap in the "Big Three" however, is tall Nick Melidio, whose work beneath the basket has been beyond reproach. Jimmy Hopkins is also playing fine ball at forward.

The locals have three boys who can hit the basket in Melidio, DiAngelo and Ruby. What's more, they have enough height to control the ball off the backboard. But so far this season, in major scraps against West Conshohocken, Trenton Catholic, New Jersey Deaf and Conshohocken, none of the trio has been able to navigate properly. Of course, this may be due to the fact that all of the above squads are playing good ball this season and are noted for their fine individual guarding tactics. Still, it would be nice to pull at least one upset out of the hat. It is the type of team that can play very good basketball once it sets its mind upon such an objective.

Little trouble is expected at Bensalem this evening. The Owls have improved immensely since the start of the season, but still lack the finesse of a good unit. George Hutton, Pete Everett, Lamb and Ejdys are the mainstays. One thing is certain, the Owls will be out there trying to cut it down a bit. They'll never forget that 33 to 0 half in the 62 to 8 beating. They are determined to give a more creditable performance.

MANHATTAN TAKES 1ST PLACE IN LOCAL LEAGUE

Chalking up its third straight second half triumph, the Manhattan Soap A. A. took undisputed possession of first place in the Bristol Basketball League trouncing the Fifth Ward Sporting Club, 49-31, on the Mutual Aid floor.

Led by "Moose" Mulligan, the Manhattaners had to play top-notch ball to beat the Warders who were pressing from the start. Only a last period drive by the soapmen gave them the decided advantage. Mulligan scored 13 points for his night's work to lead the players of both clubs in scoring.

Most of Mulligan's shots were long ones and were made early in the game. He also was the spearhead of the Manhattan passing attack and his defensive playing blocked many Fifth Ward attempts at field goals.

The losing contingent was led in scoring by Clem Peterpaul who hit the nets for five double-deckers and a pair of fouls. Fifth Ward scored nine out of fourteen foul tries while the winners countered with seven out of eleven.

VOLTZ FIVE LOSES IMPORTANT GAME TO ROHM & HAAS

Voltz Team is Toppled From Top Position In The League

FINAL SCORE IS 43 TO 27

Gasoleers Were in Lead at End Of The First Half

Failing to hold a first-half lead, the Voltz-Texaco lost an important game to the Rohm & Haas team last night on the Mutual Aid floor, the defeat toppling the Voltz-Texaco team from first place. Final score was: Rohm & Haas, 43; Voltz, 27.

At half-time, the gasoleers were in front by a 25-20 score but a ragged third period saw the chemical workers forge into the lead and hold it until the end of the game. Mid-way in the third session, "Jimmy" Rue dropped in a foul and Gallagher and Rice scored field goals which put the Maple Beach team in the lead which they never relinquished.

The scoring of the tilt was divided fairly evenly. Nine points was high and that went to Bob Anderson, of the losing team. The entire seventeen players with the exception of Balocchi and Kelly had at least two points in the night's work.
